Background

Bridget Young is the daughter of James Young and Louisa Bowles and the second child in that family. Her grandmother, Bridget Lushman, is the eldest child of Thomas and Susannah (McDonald) Lushman of Harbour Galley on Long Island in Hermitage Bay, Newfoundland.¹ After Thomas Lushman left Newfoundland for the United States in the late fall of 1833, Susannah soon married James Styles and the family moved from Harbour Galley to New Harbour, a short distance across the mouth of Bay D'Espoir. Bridget's grandmother, Bridget Lushman, married Henry Bowles (8 August 1843, Burin) and they had at least eight children, including: William (chr 18 August 1839), Thomas (chr 27 August 1842), Louisa (chr 8 Aug 1843), James (b Jun 1844), Henry (b 2 February 1848), Francis (b Oct 1849), John (b c1852), and George (b Nov 1853).

James Styles continued moving the family westward along the coast and by the time Louisa Bowles married James Young (17 September 1863) they were living in Burgeo. James and Louisa Young were the parents of seven children: Elizabeth Jane (b March 1863), William Thomas (chr 30 July 1864), Bridget (b 14 May 1866), James (b Jan 1870), Hannah (b c1872), Anna (b 6 January 1876), and Edith Louisa (chr 17 August 1879). Large families are the norm along the coast where life is generally very hard. It is highly likely that there were other children in these families but that they were lost at young ages due to childhood illnesses and lack of good nutrition.

Bridget Young was born at Coppett, west along the coast from Harbour Galley between Francois and Burgeo. As she grew, the family moved further westward to Burgeo where the later children were born. It was there that Bridget met and married James Taylor.² He was a fisherman as almost all of the males of that community were and his work and his safety was therefore subject to the vagaries of the weather, the seasons, and even the government of the province. Fishing has always been a very dangerous occupation and so when things are going well, then life is good but when storms come or danger strikes, then life can leap away and disappear without a trace. Those left behind mourn for those lost and life goes on.

The James Taylor family, with two living children, moved from Burgeo and its surrounding fishing communities to Wood's Island, St George's Bay after 1895.³ After the birth of two more children they moved on to North Sydney, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, Canada,⁴ April 1910.⁵ There James worked as a labourer for the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company as a section hand.⁶ James and Bridget died in North Sydney, as did

2 An actual marriage record has not yet been found though the marriage likely took place about 1888 in Burgeo.

The date of moving from Burgeo to Wood's Island in 1895 is determined by the fact that Wilson Taylor was born and died in Burgeo while Ward was born in Wood's Island.

4 From the FaceBook (<http://www.facebook.com/>) group -- Annie MacLeod: "Taylor Family of Southwest Newfoundland;" states that the James Taylor family migrated to Nova Scotia in 1910. She later confirmed this in an email dated 12 Jun 2011.

<http://www.capebretongenweb.com/CBIOBITS/CB%20Obits%20Last%20Names%20T.html> . Online version of a newspaper obituary from the Sydney Post Record, 3 Feb 1943, p 3. In this obituary it states that James came to Nova Scotia 49 years before (1894). This claim cannot be true, see footnote 2, though this may have been the time the family departed from Burgeo.

5 Ship's Manifest for SS Bruce, captain R Drake, from Port du Basque, NF, to N Sydney, Cape Breton, 10 Apr 1910, p3, shows Ward Taylor, line 4, age 12, first time in Canada, no occupation. On the SS Prince, sailing 21 Apr 1910, p6, line 11, Jas Taylor, age 45 (had been to Cape Breton before in 1909 for 4 mos), was a labourer in NF and continuing in Cape Breton. And on the SS Bruce, sailing 22 Apr 1910, Mrs Jas Taylor, age 45; Louisa Taylor, age 20; Marian Taylor, age 8; and Henry Taylor, age 6; first time in Canada, no occupation for any. All were Methodist.

most of his many descendants. Tuberculosis, the scourge of the world in those years, was the primary cause of their deaths. None of us can escape death and so whether James and Bridget moved to Nova Scotia to lower his stress or danger, or whether he simply felt it was a better place to make a living, Nova Scotia provided him a home and a living for the rest of his life.

First Generation

From FaceBook, Annie MacLeod: "Taylor Family of Southwest Newfoundland"

Good Day. My Taylor Family emigrated from Southwest Newfoundland to North Sydney[, Cape Breton county], Nova Scotia, in 1910. They were, according to family oral history, from the Burgeo area. James Taylor (b 1863, d 1943, North Sydney) married Bridget Young (b 1867, d 1933, North Sydney). Their son, Ward James Taylor (b 1896), is my grandfather. Other children were: Louise (b 1889, m James McEachern), Elizabeth Ann (b 1890, d 1928, North Sydney, m Joseph Martin), Marion (b 1898, d 1914, North Sydney, [single]), and Henry, AKA Harry, (b 1900, d 1940, m Irene Madore). According to marriage registry Ward was born in Bay of Islands. Anne MacLeod. [The marriage register gives no information about birth for Ward other than "NF." Irene Madore's parents lived in Wood's Island, Bay of Islands, about the time of her marriage.]

Joseph Small's Diary of Burgeo: Vital Statistics of Burgeo Between 1860 and 1925.

Edited by the Rev. Dr. H. W. Cunningham.

Published in The Newfoundland Quarterly in four parts: Vol 40, #2, Oct 1940, pp 21-26; Vol 40, #3, Dec 1940, pp 21-26; Vol 40, #4, Apr 1941, pp 31-36; Vol 41, #1, Jul 1941, p 11.

"Now we come to the daughters of John Caines' family. Caroline [Caines] married William Davidge [son of John and Sarah (Guy) Davidge]. She died of consumption and left two girls and three boys who are in the West, married. One daughter [of William and Caroline (Caines) Davidge], Phyllis, married William Anderson. They are living on Bobbett's Island. Deborah [Caines] married Hugh Matthews. She died many years ago of consumption and left two or three girls who went away to the States after their father married again. There are also three sons. Thomas was drowned with W. H. Matthews in a schooner of John Penny & Sons, going to Bay of Islands over twenty-five years ago. Reuben (Rupert) went away to sea and sailed on big ships. During the war he became a commander in the American Navy. After the war, he bought land in the South, married and has settled down there. Ernest, the last of the family, married and lives at Sydney. He has a large family. Phoebe [Caines] married Alfred Davidge and they raised a family. I think there are two girls and three boys. Freeman was a soldier in a Canadian Regiment and was wounded. The others were of a _____; in fact, all of them. One daughter [Harriet Martha Davidge], at Sydney, married a son [Ward James Taylor] of Jim Taylor, once of Burgeo. The last girl is with them at Halifax where they moved four years ago. Martha married Joseph Gunnery who was lost on the Banks with Skipper Johnny Vatcher in 1900. She married again at Lamaline to a cousin. There was no family by the marriage. John married Susie Crewe of Deer Island, daughter of William Crewe. He built or bought a store owned by John Steer and made a fine house out of it. They had quite a family of boys and girls. They moved to Sydney a few years ago. I have forgotten the names of the family members. This now covers the family of Martha Caines, nee Vatcher."

Taylor James Taylor Sydney Post Record p 3 02/03/1943 R. Fraser PASSING OF LATE JAMES TAYLOR IS WIDELY MOURNED North Sydney, March 1 - James Taylor, 79, one of this town's well known and highly respected older residents who died Friday afternoon after an illness of three weeks, was laid at rest this afternoon. Services were conducted at his late residence on Napoleon street by Rev J W A Nicholson of St Matthew-Wesley United church, of which the deceased had been a member. During the services the officiating clergyman offered words of comfort to the bereaved family and favorite hymns of the deceased were sung. Following this service, the cortege proceeded to Lakeside cemetery where burial was made with Rev Mr Nicholson also officiating at the graveside. Pall bearers were Fred Miles, Fred Reid, Leo Barry, Gerald Cleary, Joe Burke, Daniel Rose. The funeral was under direction of the W J Dooley Funeral Services. The late Mr Taylor, a native of Burgeo, Nfld. and resident of this town for the past 49 years [1894], passed away Friday after an illness of three weeks with his death coming as a great shock to family and friends. A member of St Matthew-Wesley United church, he had been employed as a sectionman with the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company for a great many years. He is survived by his wife and two daughters. The daughters are Mrs James MacEachern and Mrs Michael McCarthy, both in North Sydney. A sister and one brother, Mrs Ephriam Wall, Stanley street, North Sydney and Thomas Taylor, Burgeo, Nfld. also survive. [Note that a "daughter" Mrs Michael McCarthy survived James as did his wife. Since Bridget died in 1933, James must have remarried. It is possible that Mrs Michael McCarthy is his step-daughter. If not, then Elizabeth may have married a second time - we don't have a date of death for her husband, Joseph Martin.]

Immigration into Canada on the SS Bruce in 1910. James Taylor came first, age 45, departed Port Aux Basque, 20 Apr 1910, arr North Sydney, 21 Apr 1910. Then came Mrs Jos Martin [Elizabeth], age 22, departing Port Aux Basque 10 Jun 1910, arr North Sydney 11 Jun 1910 (same trip, same ship) accompanied by Ward Taylor, age 12. Finally came Mrs Jas Taylor, age 45, departing 23 Jun 1910, arr 24 Jun 1910 (same trip, same ship) accompanied by Louisa Taylor, age 20, Marion Taylor, age 8, and Henry Taylor, age 6. Apparently, James came first and found a place for his family, then sent for the rest of the family. Elizabeth was already married by the time she emigrated from NF. She probably married in Wood's Island. [Have digital copies of these records.]
