

11th Annual Anthropology Graduate Research Symposium

Friday (April 6th) and Saturday (April 7th)

CALL FOR PAPERS:

The UNM Anthropology Graduate Student Union (AGSU) is having their Eleventh Annual Spring Symposium April 6 - April 7th. The Symposium is a forum in which students pursuing anthropological and anthropologically-related studies share their research. Specifically, these students come from the anthropological sub-fields of Ethnology, Archaeology, Biological Anthropology, Human Evolutionary Ecology, and Linguistic Anthropology, as well as the departments of Music, Spanish and Portuguese, Sociology, History, American Studies, Native American Studies, Linguistics, and the school of medicine.

The presentations will take place on Saturday April 7th in the Student Union Building (rooms to be arranged). We are accepting all applications at this time.

Abstract DUE DATE is MONDAY, FEBRUARY 26th**

If you would like to present please submit a 100-150 word abstract of your e-mail emira @ unm.edu.

This year we are offering a $100 prize for the best in session.

Each of the sessions will be judged by a panel of faculty from a variety of sub-fields.

Friday, April 6th KEYNOTE ADDRESS by Dr. Brian Fagan

Dr. Fagan is Emeritus Professor of Anthropology, Department of Anthropology at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Dr. Fagan has specialized in communicating archaeology to general audiences. He has written over 35 books on the subject, including seven widely used college texts, and three books for the National Geographic Society, including The Adventure of Archaeology (1985), Into the Unknown (1999), and Egypt of the Pharaohs (2001). His general books include The Rape of the Nile (1975, 2004), which is a classic account of early Egyptology, Ancient North America (1990, 2000), and The Great Journey (1987). He has also written books on ancient climate change, including The Little Ice Age (2001) and The Long Summer (2004), among many other topics.

ALL EVENTS ARE FREE!!!