

JOHN M CAMPBELL UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH AWARD

Dr. John Campbell, past Chairman of the Department of Anthropology, has established a research scholarship for Anthropology undergraduates. The funding is designated to support: A) travel for participating in professional meetings; B) formal presentations; or C) research projects. This award is offered every fall and spring to two undergraduate Anthropology students in the amount of $250.00 each.

Qualifications:

1. An upper division student with a major in Anthropology.
2. Attending a professional meeting, or presenting a poster or giving a formal presentation, or undertaking a research project in Anthropology.

Application Materials: (Address letters of interest to Undergraduate Committee)

1. A letter of interest that states your area of concentration and includes a description of the research that you will be presenting or completing. Please also include:
 - the meeting (s) you are attending, and the location and dates of the meeting
 - title and the nature of a presentation (poster or talk), and the location and date of the presentation
 - title of the research project, location and dates
2. One letter of support from a faculty member who is familiar with the nature of the research you are doing or will be presenting.
