

International Studies Institute
College of Arts & Sciences, UNM

Fall 2010 Lecture Series

Global Threats

October 26 – November 4

*Eight days of lectures free and open to the public.
All lectures will be held in Dane Smith Hall (DSH), UNM, Albuquerque.*

Tuesday, October 26, 5:30 pm (DSH 225)

“ICYIZERE:hope” (documentary & presentation about Rwandan reconciliation), Patrick Mureithi, Filmmaker and Artist in Residence, Drury University

Wednesday, October 27, 12:00 pm (DSH 120)

“Child Soldiers in Africa: From Degradation to Reintegration,” Stephen Bishop, Associate Professor of French, UNM

Thursday, October 28, 12:30 pm (DSH 120)

“Prioritizing Global Threats: An Intelligence Officer’s Perspective,” James Steiner, Public Service Professor of Public Administration & Policy, SUNY Albany

Friday, October 29, 12:00 pm (DSH 120)

“Nuclear Threats,” panel discussion with James Tegnalia (Research Professor, Chemical & Nuclear Engineering, UNM), Farajollah Ghanbari (Distinguished Member of the Technical Staff and System Engineer, Global Security Engagement & International Safeguards Department, Sandia National Laboratory), and Andrew Ross (Professor of Political Science and Director, Center for Science, Technology & Policy, UNM)

Monday, November 1, 12:00 pm (DSH 120)

“Screening Trafficking: Action, Reaction, and Reception,” Yana Hashamova, Associate Professor of Slavic and Director, Center for Slavic & East European Studies, Ohio State University

Tuesday, November 2, 12:30 pm (DSH 120)

“Bio Threats,” William So, Ph.D., Policy & Program Specialist, FBI

Wednesday, November 3, 12:00 pm (DSH 120)

“Political Terrorism and Gender: Comparisons from European History,” Jane Slaughter, Professor of History and Director, Arts & Humanities Research Initiatives, UNM

Thursday, November 4, 12:30 pm (DSH 120)

“Policy Responses to Nuclear Threats,” Hans Kristensen, Director, Nuclear Information Project, Federation of American Scientists

Lecture Series Co-Sponsors (as of 10/19/10): Center for Science; Technology & Policy; College of Arts & Sciences; Honors Program; Foreign Languages & Literatures; Law School; National Security Studies Program; Political Science;

For more information: visit our website (www.unm.edu/~isi) or call (505-277-1963).