

THE HISTORY DEPARTMENT COLLOQUIUM

LECTURE SERIES

“The History Department Colloquium features discussions of pre-circulated papers. Papers can be obtained about 2 weeks prior to the event at Zimmerman Library e-reserves (course: History 999, password: unmhstory). Faculty and graduate students from all disciplines are welcome. The Spring 2010 Colloquium is supported by the Regents Speakers Fund, the College of Arts and Sciences Speakers Fund, the Center for the Southwest, the Feminist Research Institute, the Latin American and Iberian Institute, and the Department of History. For more information contact Eliza Ferguson (eeferg@unm.edu).”

2:00 P.M. History Department Commons Room, 1104 Mesa Vista Hall

- February 12- Heidi Tinsman, Department of History, UC-Irvine
- February 19- Richard White, Department of History, Stanford University
"Creative Destruction."
- February 26- Elaine Nelson, Department of History, UNM
“”Posing for Profits: Indigenous Communities in the Black Hills Tourism Industry”
- Thursday, March 4- Brian Luna Lucero, Department of History, UNM
“The Decadent Past”
- March 26 - Mel Yazawa, Department of History, UNM
- April 16- Linda Hall, Department of History, UNM, “Dolores del Rio: Memorializing Images”
- April 23- Kelly O’Neill, Department of History, Harvard University,
“Our Women for Your Salt: The Structure and Significance of the Black Sea Slave Trade, 1774-1900”
- April 30- Maria Lane, Department of Geography, UNM
“Water Technology, Discourse, and the Courtroom: New Mexicans Resist the Reclamation Era”