

Assistant Professor
University Honors Program
The University of New Mexico

The University Honors Program at the University of New Mexico invites applications for an Assistant Professor, probationary appointment leading to a tenure decision. The Honors Program is a university-wide, undergraduate, interdisciplinary program offering special academic opportunities to high-achieving, highly motivated students from all UNM colleges and schools through an active learning (seminar/tutorial) approach. We seek faculty with a student-centered philosophy, innovative ideas, and strong mentorship skills who are engaged in creative, experimental teaching. In addition, applicants must demonstrate a record of scholarship and strong interpersonal skills.

Minimum Qualifications: 1) Ph.D. in Psychology or Sociology in hand by the appointment starting date; 2) Record of at least two years of undergraduate teaching experience; 3) Record of scholarly work appropriate for entry level faculty. Applicants with doctoral degrees in humanities, science, and fine arts fields not listed above will not be considered. Preferred qualifications: Experience teaching in an Honors program; research interests, teaching background, or prior academic degree in an interdisciplinary field; demonstrated ability to teach undergraduate seminar-style courses; demonstrated experience with innovative curriculum, program development, international study programs, or community-centered learning; excellent interpersonal skills; and a demonstrated ability to work effectively in a collegial environment.

Salary and Appointment Status: Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience for junior faculty. The position is available beginning January 10, 2012. The University of New Mexico is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and educator committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. UNM is a Department of Education Minority Serving Institution.

Applications: To apply, go to <http://www.unmjobs.unm.edu> and search for Posting No. 0811047. Applications must be submitted no later than August 12, 2011. All application materials must be attached to the UNM Jobs application (no faxes, hard copies, or email application materials will be accepted) and shall include: 1) a letter of interest, which addresses the applicant's experience and qualifications; 2) a curriculum vita; 3) a teaching portfolio of 5-10 pages, including sample syllabi, assignments, and teaching evaluation outcomes; 4) two letters of recommendation; 5) a list of three additional references with complete contact information.
