Program

More Mecum results from the most recent auctions and a preview of a couple of upcoming events.

Tinkertown

A hand full of us made it to Tinkertown in Cedar Crest on July 19th. Even Joel from Santa Fe made it down in his vintage Porsche. After walking through the exhibit, we got a private tour of the house because Steve and Rita know the owner. It pays to know people. Jim and Lupe joined us at the Doc Long picnic grounds for lunch, also courtesy of Rita and Steve. That was the juiciest cantaloupe ever!!! Thanks again to the Gongora's. During the picnic Joel mentioned the possibility of having lunch at his house, possibly in the fall. Sounds like a good plan. We will discuss it at the August and September meetings.

Collector Car Appreciation Show

On July 13th I met CNM's VP at the Wheels Museum for the NMCCC's Annual Collector Car Appreciation Show. It wouldn't be a proper show without Corvairs and Robert and his brother brought a pair to the show. New club member Robert Weinberg also brought his newly purchased '65 Corsa. Robert used to own an auto repair shop on Wyoming just north of Central. He brings technical knowledge and a future garage tour to his home.

Trash Day

For last month's pickup Dave and I had a cloud of unwelcome assistants in the form of mosquitoes. They were lying in wait for us as soon as we stepped into the damp area just below the highway drainage pipe. I spent half the time swatting them off my arms. We quickly agreed to stay out of that area until it dries more thoroughly. For August's (8-/9/25) cleanup we will start at Mile Marker 5 at the usual time of 8:30am. Park in front of the Cider Bar. And then the usual visit to the Café at 9:30am.

'64 Monza

I am getting the '64 prepped for the Corvairs at State Fair Car Show on the last Sunday – September 14th. I am trying to get the rocker panels and dog legs installed before then. Currently the panel and rear dog leg on the driver's side are installed. I admit it's not body shop quality, but I did it myself and it looks ok. For safety there is a jack on the front axel and a block on the rear tire plus an extra safety jack in front of the rear tire.

Cheers everyone, hope to see ya at the meeting.

CNM Meeting Notes 7/5/25—David Huntoon

8 members present

Treasury Balance $5841.00—current

Robert Weinberg bought Johnson's red 65 Red Convertible. The convertible used to belong to John Stichman. John had installed a fuel injection on the engine. Robert has been showing a '47 Cadillac and a '49? Buick. Both are lovely machines.

Jerry Peevyhouse will check with Utah about the Tri-State

Car Appreciation on Sunday 13th at the Wheels Museum. CNM members can show up at 7:30 AM for good placement.

Tinkertown Museum Tour is on July 19th – meet at Smith's on Tramway and Central – bring quarters for all the neat machines to watch. Bring a picnic lunch to meet afterward at Doc Long Picnic Grounds

September 14th at the State Fair (last day of the State Fair)– 7:00 AM at SW corner of the Mercado Parking lot. Enter the South gate the State Fair – San Pedro and Central.

The usual departure time is usually by 3:00 with an escort thru the crowd. Bring a chair!!

Trash Day – Saturday July 12, 2025 – Park on the north side – most of the debris after the rain collects in that area. We've been taking care of the Route 66 clean up since 1996 – March through October. It was instituted by Ollie Sheflow and it is a way to show our civic duty to the highways of New Mexico. Meeting after at Roots Farm Cafe for coffee, tea or breakfast and enjoy the company.

You can find various photos and videos from the 2025 CORSA National Convention on Instagram and Facebook. (at least for those who have accounts on Instagram and Facebook)

New member – Robert Weinberg -Robert used to own auto repair shop on Wyoming. He sold the business and building but continues to work on cars from his home in the north valley near Griegos and Rio Grande. He has a complete shop and has welcomed the club for a tour of his garage.

Tinkertown Visit July 19, 2025

My first tour of Tinkertown by Joel Yelich

On the morning of Saturday July 19th, I drove down Hwy 14 from Santa Fe to meet up with some other members of the club at Tinkertown in Sandia Park. I had driven by the place many times over the decades on the way up to Sandia Peak, but this was my first visit. After a nice drive down the Turquoise Trail, I waited in the crowded parking lot trying to time the arrival of the others from Albuquerque. Eventually I heard the sound of a flat six as Steve and Rita Gongora's 1964 Corvan pulled into the lot. A moment later Greg Nelson appeared. We made our way to the museum as Steve explained that they were good friends with Carla Ward, the wife of creator of self taught artist, Ross Ward, who had passed away in 2002. Ross began collecting and meticulously crafting miniature circus figures in the early 60s, which evolved into a traveling exhibit. In 1981, he started building the museum's permanent structure from 50,000 glass bottles, officially opening it in 1983.

We were welcomed in by Carla at the entrance as Greg produced a bag of quarters for the first mechanical music display. Viewing the eclectic mix of dioramas, displays of curios and historic minutia was quite enjoyable. Greg disappeared down one of the corridors of bottle walls while Steve and I commented about the bayonets, wild west miniature displays, some in motion, and a pair of size 22 shoes from Louie Moilanen, aka "Big Louie", once billed as the world's tallest man, standing at 8'4" and weighing 430 lbs. One could spend hours looking at the details, especially the circus display. Eventually we came to the Theodora R, a 35-foot antique wooden sailboat docked in the middle of the Cibola National Forest, far from any major body of water. The 1936 English-built vessel was purchased in 1981 by Fritz Damler, Ross's brother-in-law. Damler spent ten years circumnavigating the globe, covering 80,000 miles before concluding his voyage in 1991. Unable to sell the boat, Damler, at Ross's suggestion, had the Theodora R trucked to Tinkertown Museum in 1994.

After some discussion of an unusual solar sensor tripod in the middle of the museum, I exited out to tour the wild west village. Responding to calls of my name, I then returned to the main entrance and we all were given a wonderful private tour of the adjoining residence by Carla. Ross' art studio inside is still filled with an amazing collection of paintings. The hidden courtyard has a mural Ross painted in 90 minutes.

I was invited to join the group for lunch up the road at the Doc

Long Picnic Area now including Lupe and Jim Arellanes. I'm thankful to Steve and Rita for providing some great sandwiches from Great Harvest Bread at Montgomery and Juan Tabo and sweet melon slices. Before saying goodbye, we discussed having a garage tour up at my place in Santa Fe this fall and I'll make chile con carne for everyone.

A New Toy—Tarmo Sutt

We are all constantly on the lookout for Corvairs, even models and toys. So, when I heard rumors that Matchbox is making a 1961 Rampside model, I spent some idle time trying to see what I could find.

I couldn't find anything locally, so I looked on Ebay, and found a red one for sale for $9.00 that was more than most Matchbox models, but since I couldn't find one anywhere locally I ordered it. The order said about two weeks for delivery. I waited for it to come. And I waited. And I waited some more. When I finally went back to the site, I learned it was coming from Singapore, and it was due in a couple of more days. The teal blue Rampside arrived one bright day, with the customs declaration on the outside. I opened it up, and it is a pretty good representation. I was pleased.

Well, one late night I was bored and spent some more time on Ebay, and this time a red one showed up, coming from New York this time. It was only $5.00. So, since my '61 truck is/was red I ordered it too. It came much faster than the blue one. I subsequently ordered a second red one

I'm now the proud owner of three Matchbox Moving Parts '61 Rampside trucks. I only intend to keep two though. The other one will be a gift to another Corvair Rampside enthusiast when next we meet. But in the meanwhile I will enjoy the fruits of my labor.

The photo to the left was sent to David Huntoon. He is contact with a former CNM member, Bill Reider's car. The car resides in England. This is what Dave says:

Just got this, Bill's Corvair. Out for a 80 mile trip to a show in England. Stewart
