Maxwell Museum of Anthropology
Request for Research Use of Collections

Please complete and submit this request via email to the Curator of the collection to which you are requesting access and to the Senior Research Coordinator.

Senior Research Coordinator Bruce B. Huckell (bhuckell@unm.edu)
Curator of Archaeology David A. Phillips (dap@unm.edu)
Curator of Ethnology Kathryn Klein (klein@unm.edu)
Curator of Human Osteology Heather J. H. Edgar (hjedgar@unm.edu)
Curator of Photography Catherine Baudoin (cbaudoin@unm.edu)

Which collections or types of objects would you like to study?

What is the question or goal of the research? Attach a research design if you wish.

What kinds of nondestructive analysis (measurements, observations, etc.) will you do?

Do you propose to use any destructive analytical techniques1?

What is the intended product of the research (thesis, dissertation, paper, etc.)?

When would you like to do this research?

Do you need to use any Maxwell Museum equipment (calipers, osteometric board, microscope, etc.) in your research? How much space (desk top, lab bench, 6 ft table) will you need?

Do you wish to take photographs2?

All researchers must agree to abide by the terms and conditions set by the Maxwell Museum of Anthropology for access to the collections. The researcher must provide one copy of the research product to the Museum in a format that the Museum can use. Permission to take photographs must be received prior to the research visit, and permission to publish photographs must be obtained separately from the Museum.

1 Separate permission is required; see Maxwell Museum Policy on Destructive and Invasive Analysis Requests

2 Please see Research Photography at the Maxwell Museum of Anthropology