

Please email your research request to osteolab@unm.edu. Research requests made to the Laboratory of Human Osteology of the Maxwell Museum, University of New Mexico, must include the following information:

Which collections would you like to study?

What is the research question?

What kinds of analysis will you do (measurements, observations, etc.?)

What is the goal of the research (thesis, dissertation, paper, etc.?)

Approximately when would you like to do this research?

What equipment will you need to use?

Will you be taking photographs?

All researchers must agree to abide by the regulations of the Laboratory, and must provide copies of the final product of the research. Photos to be published require separate permission.
