| UNM Taos Library Has a Lot to Offer! | 4 |

THANK YOU very much to the 72% of the voters in Taos County who voted yes on Bond B for libraries. This is the highest percentage of yes votes for this bond out of all the counties across the state. You certainly have proven how much northern New Mexicans see the value in a literate community. Again, thank you for your support as these bond monies will go directly to resources that will benefit YOU.

It's just so exciting that I can walk over to a college library and sit and read to my heart's content!

Since this is YOUR community college library please don't ever hesitate to submit your suggestions or recommendations for book titles, newspaper, magazine or journal titles, or electronic resources that you think would be of use in YOUR library.

The library's new location at the Klauer campus is proving to be really beneficial for the students, and it has been exciting to meet new community members from the nearby neighborhoods. It's been nice to hear the positive remarks as people enter the building and see how we've been able to transform the space to be welcoming yet so functional. This could not have been done without the teamwork of UNM employees across several departments from business and accounting to construction management to physical plant to library design teams.

Please come by to see if there's a quiet corner here for you to read or study. One community member stated recently, "It's just so exciting that I can walk over to a college library and sit and read to my heart's content!"

TWO TIPS

1 Consider coming to the library to study. We have large tables, computers, and a quiet space that is perfect for spreading out your books. If a question comes up, the library staff will be happy to direct you to resources that can help.

2 Schedule a session with your advisor now so that you will be ready when registration starts November 26.

Many of the core curriculum classes fill up quickly. You can pick up a copy of the schedule at the library or go to <schedule.unm.edu>, select Spring 2013 and then Taos Branch Campus.

UNM Taos Library Has a LOT to offer!

New Mexico History Museum Collection

In 2012, the libraries of the University of New Mexico collaborated with a series of museums and other cultural institutions to celebrate New Mexico statehood. Thousands of resources from across the state were gathered and presented online.

The New Mexico History Museum offered more than 15,000 items from its collection. The archive includes subjects emphasizing the history of New Mexico, the American West, indigenous peoples, anthropology, archaeology, ethnology, mining, railroads, agriculture, as well as images from many areas of the world. <http://nmstatehood.unm.edu>

Our Library is Open to the General Public

The UNM Taos Library strives to give back to the community in Taos. The foundation of this community support involves the unique collection of books that cover the history, agriculture, building practices, and written culture of our region. Take some time today to get yourself a library card and join us. Or visit our website to access links to online collections.
